Art Unit: 3643

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-16 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over German Patent DE 3442317 to Schuart et al.

Regarding Claims 4-16, Schuart et al teaches an agglomeration process utilizing a tumbler or rotating drum (Schuart et al English translation page 3), but Schuart et al is silent on specifically identifying a pan pellitizer, disk pellitizer, balling disk, paddle mixer, horizontal pan, powder blenders, flow-jet mixer, planetary mixer, cone mixer, ribbon mixer, pin type mixer, vertical mixer, pin mixer, cone pelletizer, fluidized bed. However, these apparatuses are all old and well-known seed coating or mixing machines. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the teachings of Schuart et al with any of the machines listed in claims 4-17 since these are merely alternate equivalent agglomeration machines that perform the same intended function of agglomerating particles with a coating and one would select a particular agglomeration machine to satisfy different economic, maintenance, and time parameters and to accommodate different types of fertilizers or nutrient coatings.

Regarding Claim 22, Schuart et al is silent on the preconditioning and conditioning steps are repeated to add additional layers to the seed. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the teachings since the modification is merely duplicating the process to provide a more comprehensive seed coat and does not present a patentably distinct limitation.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 8 September 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Examiner maintains that Schuart et al does teach a tumble/agitate agglomeration process as discussed on by Schuart page 3, last paragraph on the page continued on to the top of page 4. Shuart teaches a revolving drum and that a powder substance adheres to the seed as a result of the mechanical agitation of the seed and powder in the drum. Examiner maintains that applicant's claim language does not patentably distinguish over the teachings of the prior art. Tumble/agitate agglomeration is an old and well-known coating means and merely selecting this technology to be used to coat food, or seeds, etc is an obvious modification of selecting an known technology while maintaining the intended function of the device.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
